Importance of proper procurement

- FEMA's willingness to exercise its discretion pursuant to 44 CFR 13.43(a) and 2 CFR 215.62(a) and mitigate improper procurement by cost analysis.

BUT . . .

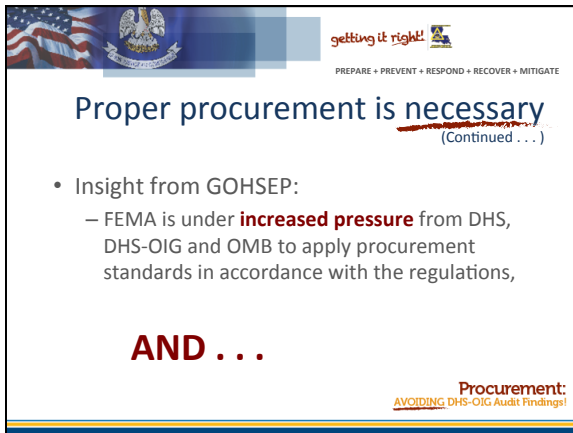

Proper procurement is necessary

- OIG says . . .

“ . . . Clearly, OMB’s intent was not for Federal agencies to make exceptions to the procurement standards in the administrative requirements for grants a routine practice. Accordingly, we do not believe that it is prudent to waive Federal procurement standards unless lives and property are at stake, because the goals of proper contracting relate to more than just reasonable costs. Once the roads are clear, power is restored, and the danger is over, cities, counties, and other entities should follow regulations or risk losing Federal funding . . . ”

SOURCE: Capping report DHS-OIG 13-90 May 2013, page 7

- Insight from GOHSEP:
 - FEMA is under increased pressure from DHS, DHS-OIG and OMB to apply procurement standards in accordance with the regulations,

AND . . .

Procurement:
AVOIDING DHS-OIG Audit Findings!

- State responsibility:
 - “To assure that subgrantees are aware of requirements imposed upon them by Federal statue and regulation.”

SOURCE: 44 CFR 13.37

- “Grantees must monitor grant and subgrant supported activities to assure compliance with applicable Federal requirements . . . ”

SOURCE: 44 CFR 13.40(a)

AND . . .

Proper procurement is necessary

- Subgrantee responsibility:
 - “To comply with all of the procurement requirements as stated in 44 CFR 13.36 and 2 CFR 215.”

SOURCE: Memorandum of Understanding between GOHSEP + subgrantee

Procurement:

Proper procurement is necessary

- Conclusion:
 - Subgrantees have the responsibility to be compliant.
 - GOHSEP has the responsibility to assure subgrantee compliance.
 - It is uncertain how long FEMA will continue to liberally apply its discretion.
